Sand Judge Royal D. Hawley and his godchild, Sand Dab Lorie Brown

Over 1,000 People, 91 Gritty Entries in Sand Castle Event

By Donald R. Brown with a nudge from Don Marshall

Over 1,000 people crowded Carmel Beach last Sunday afternoon to view and participate in the second annual Great Sand Castle Contest, twice the size of last year's with 91 entries.

Perhaps 82-year-old Roy Hawley and his goddaughter, 18-month-old Dorie Brown (left) best symbolize all that was best about the affair. Dorie, daughter of Grand Sand Marshal Don Brown, wore a red ribbon proclaiming herself the official Sand Dab. Roy was pressed into service as a Sand Judge due to the unfortunate circumstance which forced Paul Artellan to remain on duty at the fire house. He strode the beach leading the other judges, Fred Keeble, Gus Arriola, Bill Cranston, Eldon Didini and Jim Kelsey.

More importantly, however, they also symbolized the fact that this was a day on the beach for the whole family.

The grand prize was awarded to a replica of the Egyptian complex at Gizeh, with the pyramids of Cheops, Chephren and Mykerinos and the Sphinx in perfect scale. The opus was constructed by an aggregation calling themselves the Carmel Gangsters and made up of Susan Sari, Jane and Alison McFarlane, Mrs. Anne McFarlane, Michael Garrison, John Edwards, Lynn McMullen, Terry Rockwood and Paul Taylor.

First prize in the drippies was won by the Deyerle family, who reconstructed a Hohenzollern castle. The non-drippies were led by Metters and Kline with a complicated and extensive pueblo structure. The others category was won by the structure which probably got the most attention of all, a contemporary castle with swimming pool and a shady garden, built by Stanton Noel, Doug Steinsieck, Joe Wilk, Frank Jansen, Fred Schoellhammer and Eric Wroldsen all students at the Defense Language School. The class which held the most interest for parents was what was termed contemporary, or those least hampered by adults. It was won by Susan Dean and Carol Deering with an elaborate truncated fortress surrounded by a wide moat and topped by an American flag.

The largest project was entered by Thorn and Spaulding and the prize for the most confused went to Coggin and Thompson. Honorable mention prizes went to Joy Stevens, Smith and Heller, Vanderslues, and Will and Virginia Shaw. Relatives and favorites of the officials who were recognized by awards included Bruce, Mark and Julie Brown, Mike Kearns, Scott and Robin Sandy, the Murtzes, the Wards and Clements and O'Brien.

Sand Marshals for the event were Glenn Kearns, Ed Fischer and Art Plaxton.

The PINE CONE plans to run a list of all other children who registered for the event in next week's edition.

Carmel Losing Valuable Collections; Sunset Proposal Would Stop This

Construction of a permanent art gallery and museum on the Sunset School site would make available to Carmel priceless art works now held in private collections.

This was the statement today of two prominent local collectors, both of whom have hesitated to exhibit their collections here because of lack of safe facilities.

Arthur L. Dahl of Pebble Beach, who has one of the world's most complete collections of the works of Mark Tobey, many of which were sent to Paris last year for a Tobey show at the Louvre, said:

"We have been asked several times to show our paintings in Carmel, but we are concerned with safety factors."

Dahl, an investment counselor and director of the Bach Festival, endorsed the plan to tear down Sunset School and erect a concert hall-theater, art gallery, and museum on the site. He characterized the plan as "one of the most valuable and necessary projects proposed here in years."

Meanwhile, Dr. William Fitzhugh, local physican, stated that he would have donated his collection of etchings by Goya, Durer, Hogarth, and others to the local American Federation of Arts.

"But there is no fireproof, safe place here," Dr. Fitzhugh said. He gave the collection to the Museum of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

A group of local citizens has presented a plan under which the city, if it acquired the Sunset School site, would acquire at no cost a 1,500 seat concert hall-theater, and 15,000 square foot museum and art gallery.

The plan calls for razing the present building, which has been characterized as unfit by engineers and architects hired by the city.

The school district wishes to sell the school. The technicians' report estimated cost of making the school structurally sound in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It is proposed that a non-profit corporation lease the site from the city and erect the improvements, title to which would go to Carmel.

Financing would be by donations, grants, and tax-exempt bond sale, a method proved successful elsewhere. The site would accommodate parking for 500 cars as well as the buildings.

Leaders in local art and musical circles, in endorsing the plan, have pointed to the need for a proper place for presentation of such events as the Bach Festival, Carmel Music Society recitals, and similar events, if they are to remain in Carmel.

Public Hearing Set On Gallery Front

Due to a petition carrying 75 signatures and protesting an Aug. 28 decision, the Carmel Planning Commission has scheduled a public hearing next Wednesday afternoon to review the plans of Carmel Galleries to remodel their store front. The signatories objected to a large single sheet of plate glass which is planned by the galleries. Commission chairman Fred Keeble stated that the applicant should be informed of the protest before the hearing, which will be a part of the regular meeting of the commission.

Planning Commission meetings are held in City Hall and begin at 4 p.m.

Feathers... From the Shaft

No. 25

By Harry the Fletcher

We hear a lot of argument on race and land of birth, and controversies waged anent our origins on earth; but if our forebears came from apes as scientists have shown, what matters then our mugs and shapes — 'cause that's the way we've grown.

As monkeys we were brothers once, both Chinamen and Swedes, and wandered far for better hunts to feed our swarming breeds. Some chose to face the northern gale, some sought a warmer clime, which shows why some are now so pale, and some grew dark in time.

Now I am English, French and Dutch and Portuguese and Dane, and Sengelese with just a touch of Irish in one vein. My mother came from pirate stock and ran my father down across some Mandalasian rock, which caused my skin to brown.

So I am neither white nor tan nor fish nor fowl nor game, but just a plain American with just a common name. The sole responsibility for me, I'm forced to say, is Dad's deplete agility in getting caught that way.

Not the Sheik of Araby, but Mike Garrison joins Sari McFarlane in a happy duet in front of their Grand Prize Entry

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

Several months ago I could lay claim to being an art gallery operator — of sorts. At the time I was handling the publicity for a large and very elaborate resort hotel nestled down between two desert mountains near Scottsdale, in Arizona. We had a large wall in the lobby and I used to arrange monthly exhibits to hang there.

You can see, therefore, how little I was able to learn about art galleries by this experience. Then too, you can imagine my surprise when a dapper little man came to see me with an offer to have a real show of his collection of paintings, gathered over 25 years and in which he had invested about $400,000.

To say I was skeptical would be something of an understatement. He said there were about 600 paintings in all and that they were mostly just stacked in unused bedrooms of his modest tract home. His twitching, grey mustache must have acted like an antenna, picking up my feelings about his story. He gave me two names as personal references. One was the chairman of the board of the tenth largest bank in the nation and the other was the head of the art department in a nearby university.

You can imagine my further surprise when both of these people spoke only in the most glowing terms about my man. I then went to the newspaper files and dug out what they had. Turns out the chap formerly operated tool and die shops near Detroit and Chicago during and just prior to the war. He also headed a federal group which was responsible for bringing a sizeable industry to Phoenix. I then agreed to go to his house and look at the paintings.

I cannot remember most of what I saw that afternoon. The only reason that I can now tell the story is that last night I came upon the notes I made as first one and then another incredibly beautiful painting was brought before me.

The man had started buying paintings from impoverished nobility, most of whom escaped just before the onrushing hordes of Nazi Germany, clutching whatever personal treasures they could carry. When they found that simply being nobility was not a good way to make a living in this country, they began to divest themselves of those treasures.

On the wall was a watercolor by W. F. H. de. Haas, Frederick Colin Tilney's "Landscape with Diana and Actaeon" was on the opposite wall. There was the opulent "Vanity," by Nicolas de Largilliere, one as yet "undiscovered" Van Dyke, 15 haunting works by the strangely unpopular Aurel Naray, a few by J. J. Hanner, a painting by Gerhard Dow on porcelain dated 1083, two heads by Lajos for one of which I would cheerfully give up my immortal soul. Other names, all well known in Europe, which were represented in the group included, Krusnyak, Marshall, Hardy, Edward Gay, Harry Tuck, Francois Gall, R. Reyes Torrent, Macarron, Anigini, Stuart, Gabe, H. C. Fox, W. Capel Curat, T. Sidney Cooper Emilio Torres, George Morland, Peczely, Meszoly, B'hari, Benyovsky, Kontuly, Mihalovitz, Mannheimer, Garrick, Juan Guillermo Novillo and many, many others.

I was positively drunk with painting. . . nearly insane to put on the exhibit. What a coup! It would be a major event in the world of art!

Alas, my company felt I should get some group to sponsor the event, rather than spend my time away from buying drinks for visiting convention prospects. I was unable to interest any group in even going to look at the collection.

As far as I know, the paintings are still stacked in the unused bedrooms of that tract home in Phoenix. Just waiting. . . . .

WHERE THERE'S LIFE

BY ANDRE HOPE

I left my heart, calorie counter, one glove, an earring and, for some inexplicable reason, a hat in San Francisco; to paraphrase the national anthem of that cool, contrary, courtly country. On the other hand, I found a great many new things which might be of interest to you on your next journey Northward — traveling, of course, on the Del Monte Special — a rare and anachronistic treat in these days of nameless buses, numbered planes and encumbered freeways. (Why they call them free, considering the taxes we pay for their inception and upkeep, I shall never know).

This time I'd like to deal with "What to Do Until the Curtain Rises." If you are the type inclined to drowse after dinner, at which time the play begins, try this agenda. Have a late and leisurely lunch in the Redwood Room of the Clift Hotel, which I believe still has the best food and the most magnificent coffee in the city with prices compatible to your budget and their cuisine. Aside from their regular menu they offer a woman's dream, several chances to change your mind — an assortment of hors d'oeurves, a cart of liqueurs and a gaggle of desserts which are surely sponsored by the National Association of Girdle Fabricators. Again in this world of the blue plate and chuck wagon buffs, I find their excellent china, flat silver, napery and crystal worth the price of admission alone; to say nothing of the service itself, including a beautifully mounted basket of mints to top the meal.

Petted, pampered and a touch paunchy you now have time to view the shops on and near Union Square — Dorman's (let's redo the whole house!' — Magnin's (let's refurbish the whole me!) — Newbegin's book shop (wrap it up, I'll take it home!) Dunhill's (but honey, you just got a new pipe. However, we can look in the women's department) — Gumps — Shreve's (don't let her stay there too long) — Abercrombie Fitch (put blinders on him) — Podesta Baldocchi (all the lovely flowers! Buy a corsage for tonight) — Charlotte Newbegin's book shop in Tillman Place (wrap it up, never mind, I'll read it here!). While in the neighborhood a slight hike up Grant will find you in Madame Butterfly or Mandarin Fashions looking at the lovely oriental gowns and materials. By this time you should be weary of foot, hungry and thirsty. In Maiden Lane you'll find the Iron Horse. At cocktail time a feature of this excellent restaurant is their hors d'oeurves, mostly hot. These come compliments of the house with your drink, passed by the waiters who sulk if you don't try some of each. These should hold you until after the theater. Incidentally, if you

Ground Broken For CV Country Club

Construction began this week on the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club's new 18-hole championship course and land development project, located three miles from the mouth of the Carmel Valley on the former Dwight Morrow Ranch with entrance just west of the Valley Hills Shopping Center.

The Granite Construction Company, which has the contracts for the rough grading of the golf course and the construction of the $100,000 bridge, began the preliminary work on the latter this week.

The bridge, which will span the Carmel River, will be part of Valley Greens Drive, the development's main thoroughfare and will be one of the first automobile bridges dedicated to a county to have special accommodations for golf carts.

The Sunshine Company of Fresno was awarded the contract for construction of the golf course, the installation of the sprinkling system and the tree planting. Palco, Inc. of Indio, California, was given the contract for the construction of nine lakes on the golf course, and the contract was signed with the California Water Company for installation of the domestic water system. It was pointed out that all utilities for the development will be underground. Work has also commenced on the dismantling of existing barns and fencing, and several fairways are currently being cleared.

Edgar Haber, President of Green Meadows, Inc. which is developing the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club project, stated that he is hopeful that the course will be seeded by the first of the year before the rains, so that the course will be playable by June.

Christian Science Lecture Monday Night

"Who are you?" is the question that will be explored on Monday, Sept. 23, in a public talk by Lenore D. Hanks, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Sponsor of the talk is First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel.

The lecturer will speak at 8 p.m., in The Church Edifice, Monte Verde near 6th. The theme will be man's discovery of his spiritual identity under God. The lecture is entitled, "Do You Know Who You Really Are?".

Mrs. Hanks is a native of Portland, Oregon, and graduated from the University of Oregon with a degree in sociology. For the past several years, she has been an authorized teacher and practitioner of Christian Science.

Altrusa to Present Noted Speaker

Mrs. Barbara Nottingham, coordinator of art education, Alameda County, and historian for the International Society for Education through Art, will be the guest speaker for the first fall dinner meeting of Altrusa of Monterey Peninsula, next Monday night.

Mrs. David Stevens, program chairman of the evening, states that Mrs. Nottingham will report upon the accomplishments, during the past four years, of the Society's general assemblies held in the Hague, Manilla and Montreal. Mrs. Nottingham's talk will be illustrated with colored slides made at the assembles.

The Altrusa dinner-meeting will be held in the Ginza restaurant in Monterey and all those interested in today's and tomorrow's education through international understanding and exchange of ideas on art are urged to attend. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Stevens, 624-4454 or Miss Norma Cohn, 375-6572.

plan to visit the city this week-end, try to see a performance of "Beyond the Fringe" at the Geary, which closes Saturday night. This British collection of skits is a rowrbazzler. In one sequence what they do to Shakespeare should discourage Sir Laurence of Olivier for ever more.

After the theatre there are two places right in the neighborhood for supper; David's, where you can wallow in such Kosher delights as blintzes, marvelously flavored boiled chicken, chopped liver, matzo ball soup and all that other lovely glub; Trader Vic's where you can slosh around luxuriously in a number of fabulous soups — and so to dreams in a dream city.

We would like to add our congratulations to those of Madglad by the Bay to Herb Caen, who has had some very nice things to say about the PINE CONE, and who is celebrating his 25th anniversary as a columnist this week.

to give him fresh purpose

If you are among the ever-increasing number of retired workers, or are planning to retire—if you are seeking wider horizons for usefulness – then you will want to turn to the truths contained in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.

Christian Science explains that man, as the image and likeness of God, is constantly expressing a higher sense of activity and can find new opportunities for usefulness.

Science and Health may be read or examined, together with the Bible, at any Christian Science Reading Room. Or it may be purchased at $3.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

The Big Sur Lodge, dining room, coffee shop, gift shop and general store, concessions at Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur, will close for the winter season this Sunday evening, Sept. 22. The Park, however, remains open the entire year for camping, hiking, enjoying.

Stephen Goetz, Fire Crew Foreman at the Big Sur Guard Station of the United States Forest Service, reports that during the electrical storm last week there was a lightning strike at Cold Springs, within the Los Padres National Forest. Fortunately the "strike" and the resulting fire were close to the Forest Service Road which made it possible to get men and equipment on the scene and contain the fire after it had burned but a few acres. Mr. Goetz and other crew members, Don Eberle, Fire Prevention Officer, William Harlan and Juan Lopez crewman and Norman Perryman and John Uhle, drivers for the big tanker, are all highly trained men, trained in Forest Service Schools in the work of suppressing and containing fires.

Crew Foreman Goetz has highest praise for the work of his men in handling the fire at Cold Springs. The crew maintains an around-the-clock alert, are trained and ready to meet emergencies. There are still critical weeks ahead, until the rainy season, and fire hazards are great. Think of Smokey, "Remember, only YOU can prevent forest fires".

At Hurricane Point, midway between Bixby Creek and the Little Sur River, along Highway 1 is the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Boggess and family, situated in a spectacular setting on the rugged coast with a sweeping view of the Pacific

There have been many new improvements at "S-40", the name of the Boggess Sur Coast property, (although their land comprises much more than 40 acres) including a black top driveway, terracing and planting along the bluffs and presently underway is an important improvement in their water supply On the property there is a constant and ample supply of water from an underground spring which is pumped into a large storage tank. Soon to replace the pump will be a windmill, an authentic old windmill, purchased from the City of Seaside. Recently Mr. Boggess' brother, Donald and sister, Betty, and parents Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Boggess from the Los Angeles area were visiting at "S-40" and all found pleasure in helping with the new project.

Margaret Fabrizio, musician and musical director of the Nepenthe concerts, will be in Big Sur tomorrow evening for the opening concert of the fall series, which will include the works of Mozart, Brahms and Hindemith Next Tuesday evening, Sept. 24, Mrs. Fabrizio (formerly a resident of the Sur Coast near Rocky Creek, now living in San Francisco) will appear on the program together with Anna Carol Dudley, soprano and Ellen Dessler, cellist, and will play solo numbers on the harpsichord. Last season Mrs. Fabrizio acquired a Vivaldi model Neupert harpsichord equipped with two keyboards and four sets of strings, a splendid instrument which is capable of producing many combinations and variations of sound.

"The Photographer", a special showing of a movie about the late, world-famous photographer Edward Weston, will be shown tomorrow night at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge, Big Sur, as the opening feature of a week-end seminar entitled "The Eye Of Edward Weston". Taking part in the week-end discussions and leaders of the seminar will be distinguished artists, photographers and old friends of Edward Weston which will include Ansel Adams, Imogen Cunningham, Jack Welpott and Mr. Weston's son, Cole.

Also coming to the Hot Springs Lodge, the last week-end in October is "Research On Peace" which will include discussion of current peace research at local universities and by the Committee for the Application of the Behavior Sciences to the Strategies of Peace (ABSSOP). Registration fee proceeds will be donated to help the peace research activities of ABSSOP.

Leaders of the seminar will be Kathleen Archibald, sociologist of the Institute of International Studies of the University of California, Paul Ekman, psychologist of San Francisco State College and studies in international conflict and integration at Stanford University, Robert North, Professor of political science, of Stanford, and Professor of international relations, San Francisco State College, Charles McClelland.

The Palo Colorado School, one of the few remaining one-room schools in the country, located on Highway 1 just south of Palo Colorado Cayon, has only nine students enrolled at the beginning of this school year. The drop in enrollment this semester is partially due to the fact that there are now six grades instead of seven as in former years. As a result of unification with the Carmel District on July 1, seventh graders now attend the Carmel Junior High School. During the summer months there were many improvements to the school building's interior: the building re-wired and the floors refinished and a new refrigerator added, making it possible to have fresh milk at the school, daily. Soon to be added will be athletic equipment and a new slide.

Teacher-principal, Mrs. Nancy Bottero, returns from her summer of taking summer school (English literature and child psycology) at San Jose State College, with much enthusiasm for the year ahead and with appreciation for the unique opportunity that is hers to teach in the little, white, country school, tucked in at the base of the Santa Lucias within sight and sound of the many moods of the sea. The returning children and the two new first graders, Cara Weston and Bruce Goldes, come to "their school" with much joy too.

An outdorr fall art festival will be held this Saturday and Sunday at Coast Art Gallery, in the gardens and terraces, where works of Big Sur artists will be on display. In its Weekend Adventure Drive series, widly circulated by the Union Oil Company of California, the festival at Coast Gallery is included among 19 "musts" among the art colonies and festivals in northern California and Nevada.

TUB-THUMPING

By Alan G Pattee
Assemblyman, 34th District

In addition to the widely publicized changes in major State tax laws passed at our recent special session, which I have discussed in this column previously, a number of charges were made in the sales tax law. No charge in the rate was made, but the taxability of many items is affected, starting Sept. 20 tomorrow.

The average citizen will most likely be affected by either or both of the two most important amendments of this nature. The first puts the sales tax on all food sold at drive-in establishments. The other puts the tax on the second car sold by a private citizen within a year.

The change in the law taxing food sold by drive-ins was brought about because of criticism from drive-in operators, consumers, and the Board of Equalization. Previous law taxed food bought and consumed on the premises, but not that taken away before consumption. Operators complained that it was almost impossible to keep accurate records on this basis, and Board officials had tough problems with reasonable audits. Customers were taxed at one place, but not at another on the same type of purchase.

One point was tightly nailed down in the new law. It applies only to true-drive-ins, that is, to places which have parking space on the premises where food may be consumed in cars. It does not cover speciality houses, such as those selling pizza, pie, Chinese or Italian food, or fried chicken, where all food is taken off the premises, or delivered.

To some, this may not seem an important change. But when it is realized that the state expects to gain $7 million per year in added revenue, it does not look so small. Based on the 4 percent tax rate, it means food sales of $175 million per year. A million or more meals per year is not mere hay.

The tax on the second or subsequent sale of a car by a private owner within a year is intended to close loopholes in the law which had been creating some criticism. competitive-minded individuals were evading the tax by purchasing from private owners, then transferring title directly to a third party without a traceable record of the intervening ownership. The previous limit of three untaxable car sales per year by a recognized salesman was also difficult to administer fairly. Increased revenue from this change is estimated at $2.5 million annually.

Also to be taxed hereafter are meals served regularly by employers to several employees. If a fixed amount is charged, the tax will be based on that amount. If none is charged, the value of other things used, such as paper plates, napkins, or cups will be the basis for the tax.

Diabetes sufferers will be relieved of sales taxes amounting to $135,000 per year or more on the insulin which they must buy. The charge is in line with previous legislation exempting prescription drugs from the tax.

More shipping business is expected to return to California because of the new exemption from the sales tax of fuel oil sold to tramp steamers. Our committees were told that many ships went to competing ports because of this tax.

Rules governing operations of all these new sales tax laws will be adopted by the Board of Equalization before they go into effect.

Renoir Film at MPC

"The Rules of the Game," selected in a 1962 poll of international critics as third among the greatest motion pictures of all time, will open Monterey Peninsula College's 1963-64 film series tomorrow night.

There will be two free-of-charge showings in the 240-seat MPC Music Hall, at 7 and 9 p.m. Reserved seat tickets for both screenings are available in the college administration building and must be picked up in person. Persons attending without tickets will be admitted at the door only after ticket holders have been seated.

Produced by Claude Renoir and directed by Jean Renoir, who also wrote the scenario and dialogue (with Carl Koch) and played a role, "The Rules of the Game" was derived from the play, "Les Caprices de Marianne" by Alfred de Musset.

Set at the time it was made — on the eve of the outbreak of World War II — it depicts, at one level, simply a large house-party, and, at another level, a tragic-comic world in motion. It has been compared, is some of its aspects, to "La Dolce Vita," "Last Year at Marienbad" and Bergman's "Smiles of a Summer Night."

Lecture Series Set At Presidio

An outstanding series of lectures by distinguished members of the University of California complex will begin next week for the faculty of the Defense Language Institute, according to an announcement made today by Colonel Richard J. Long, DLIWC Commandant.

The forthcoming series, entitled "American Society and Institutions", came about as a result of conferences between Colonel Long and university authorities at Berkeley.

The Commandant explained that in the latter phases of each language course taught at the Presidio of Monterey school, the foreign-born instructors discuss, in the target language, such facets of their native country as geography, demography, politics, economy, customs, cultures, taboos, literature, arts, cooking, music, etc. They must then, and still in the target language, Colonel Long said, contrast these facets of their native culture with those of America, and although obviously well-qualified to discuss customs of their native lands, may not be too well-informed on comparative life in the United States. The prime purpose of the lectures, therefore, is to acquaint the Defense Language Institute faculty with the American way of life in order to provide a common plateau of knowledge.

Praising the success of a long-standing official agreement between the University of California and DLI, Colonel Long added:

"I am most happy that the University of California has acceeded to our request. This will not only be of tremendous educational val- to our faculty, but will result in far more comprehensive instruction for our American student body."

Defense Language Institute officials regret that the size of the usable faculty precludes attendance by the public and only the DLI faculty will be admitted.

Bishop Kip School Seeks More Students

"There is still room for more children in Kindergarten and Second Grade classes at All Saints' Day School," The Rev. Peter Farmer, Headmaster, said this week.

The school began its third year this week in new quarters at the former Hospital annex, at Santa Fe, South of Pico Street, Carmel. Classes from kindergarten through sixth grade are offered.

Father Farmer emphasized that children of all faiths are welcome.

"In the kindergarten we offer the best possible environment for the five-year-old," he said. "Academic areas include: science, math, phonics, and social studies.

Aesthetic and spiritual experiences include: chapel, art, music and literature. In the social area, the child learns about himself, his family, school and the community. Every effort is made to challenge each child to use his full capacities."

"Information about the school may be obtained by calling the office, 624-3884," Father Farmer said.

Community Chest Volunteers Active

Twenty-one volunteers began their work yesterday in the Carmel business division of the 1963-64 Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

Led by F. K. (Dick) Duhring, assistant manager of Wells Fargo Bank in Carmel, the volunteers met at the Red Cross Chapter House in Carmel and were challenged to an $8,084 goal by Stephen G. Magyar, general chairman.

This figure represents a 20 percent increase over what was raised last year in Carmel Business, but only a three per cent over the fall of 1961 results.

St. Galy Mosaics In Montalvo Art Show

Artist Geza St. Galy is currently filling a commission in the Benedictine Chapel in Woodside, a tile mural, 37 feet long by 2 feet in height. In two sections, entitled "The Way of the Cross" the mural will, the artist hopes, be completed by December, '63.

Ceramics in the form of religious tiles, mosiacs and contemporary decorative tiles, by Mr. St. Galy of Carmel, will headline the Oct. 1 to 31 art show at Villa Montalvo galleries, near Saratoga.

This will mark the third time St. Galy has exhibited at Montalvo since 1958. Arriving in the United States in 1951 from his native Hungary, where he studied the arts under some of the best known contemporary masters, he came to Carmel in 1954 and opened a studio on Dolores street, which is the main outlet for his work. Once on the West Coast he saw the potential of ceramic tile mosiac in architecture of this region and now his work decorates numerous public buildings and religious edifices along the Pacific Coast, and the Carmel Plaza and others, nearer home.

Since 1959, St. Galy has served as chairman, or deputy, of the Carmel Art Commission, and organized a contemporary Religious Art Exhibit in connection with the annual Bach Festival.

St. Galy's ceramics will share West Gallery with the paintings of Mrs. Harriet Thorpe, whose range of versatility runs the gamut from non-objectives to landscapes to cityscapes.

Montalvo exhibitions are free to the public and galleries are open daily, 1:30 to 4:30, except Mondays.

Ballet '63 Comes To The Peninsula

Ballet '63 will be presented this Saturday evening, at 8:15 p.m., in Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium, the first of the concert series given by the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association, celebrating its twenty fifth year.

Eight young dancers of the famed San Francisco Ballet began in San Francisco in 1960 as a "summer stock" for ballet. What started as an experiment in dancing for a few summer performances now results in their first coast-to-coast tour this fall.

The carefully balanced program constitutes a blending of every facet of classical dance, but also features a sampling of provacative, contemporary works. New works have been created especially for the company by the eminent choreographer Lew Christensen of the San Francisco Ballet. Richly costumed, the works range from the lilting "Prokofiev Waltzes" and the pas-de-trois "Divertissement D'Auber" to the hilarious social satire "Cocktail Party". "Session Three" is a jazz piece choreographed to a bongo drum accompaniment. "Elijah" uses the folk dances of India to illustrate a Negro spiritual.

To music from Bach to Stravinsky — from jazz to spirituals — the company of young dancers demonstrates the technique and ensemble work which have made the San Francisco Ballet renowned around the globe.

Alfred Frankenstein, in the San Francisco Chronicle, calls it "an exhilarating dance evening — tremendously entertaining and impressive — another bullseye!"

Admission to the concert is by membership card only. Members of other concert association are admitted on a space available basis.

The railway post office, a railroad car in which mail is sorted and distributed en route, was first put in regular service on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway in 1864.

About Those Party Goers and Givers — Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo of Pebble Beach escorted Miss Winona Love of Honolulu to the opening of the San Francisco opera season last week. Winona wore one of her sensational formal holokus, of black velvet, it contrasted dramatically with the white orchids of her hair-do.

Mrs. Hatlo's gown, pink with gold brocade, was topped with a stole of pink satin. Jimmy, who was just himself, and his two ladies dined before the opera at his favorite San Francisco spot, the French Room in the Clift Hotel.

A rollicking box party, guests of Dr. Harry Lusignan at last week's Borge laughter orgy, ended at the Jimmy Hatlo home "Wit's End". Scrambled eggs were suggested by the hostess, but in the excitement of the post mortem of Victor Borge's wonderful performance, the eggs were never cracked. The midnight guests at the Hatlos included, Dr. Lusignan, retired television and radio personality Don Searles and Mrs. Searles (delighted with their new home in Del Monte Fairways); Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Gorham, Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Stewart, Mrs. Hugh F. Dormody and fadio's Gale Grub, down from San Francisco for the evening.

Grand Prix Oct. 18-20 At Laguna Seca Track

Seattle's Jerry Grant makes a second bid to conquer Monterey's twisting, hilly 1.9 mile Laguna Seca road racing course Oct. 18-20 as he challenges more than 200 top international sports car drivers in the $20,000 Monterey Pacific Grand Prix.

He will drive the same Buick-powered Lotus 19 that led the pack during June's Laguna Seca U. S. Road Racing Championships. On the 22nd lap of that race, Grant gave way to America's finest modified sports cars as the car's engine blew up.

Grant is noted as a "charger" who establishes lap records, but has difficulty keeping machines intact until the finish. At the Aug. 18 U. S. Road Racing Championship at Continental Divide Raceway, Colorado, Grant knocked 2 seconds of the track record, but again went out with engine trouble.

More than 200 top U. S. and European drivers and teams are expected for the 2-hour Monterey Pacific Grand Prix which begins at 2:30, Sunday, Oct. 20. Ferrari's North American Racing Team has indicated that they are preparing cars designed especially for the tricky, nine-turn Laguna circuit. Drivers for the Ferrari team could possibly include Mexico's Pedro Rodriquez and England's John Surtees.

The Monterey Pacific Grand Prix is sponsored on behalf of charity by the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula (SCRAMP), in cooperation with the San Francisco Examiner.

Regional races will be conducted by the sanctioning San Francisco Region, Sports Car Club of America, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18 and 19.

Carmel Rancho Center Plans Annex Opening

Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, at the entrance to Carmel Valley, will open its new 18,000-square-foot unit to new tenants within the next few weeks, according to Sam S. Smith, owner-developer. The addition of the new development brings the center's total square footage to 58,000 square feet, including existing units, now approximately two and a half years old.

Architecture of the new structure follows the overall plan, with use of native Carmel stone and shake roofs. It is divided into two sections, with the east portion devoted to a restaurant and adjacent shops and a west portion planned primarily for business offices.

Major tenant of the east portion is the June Simpson Restaurant, with dining room to seat 85 and a dining lounge that will accomodate 65 persons. Luncheon and dinner will be served. The restaurant area, totaling 4440 square feet, will have maximum window space to take advantage of the Valley view, and of a planted interior court. Opening date, to be announced soon, is planned for the month of November.

Fashions will for the first time be included in the shopping center in the House of Lyn, leased to Mary Nichols and Irene Stutzman. A range from sportswear to after-five dresses is planned.

Three more occupants of the new unit are a branch of Henry Meade Williams' The Wells book store, a liquor store and a pet shop. Carmel Rancho Liquors, leased to Wilma J. Anderson, will cater especially to party needs, and will have delivery service. The Suds & Scissors Pet Shop, under owner-managers Ted and Vera Fenley, has moved to Carmel Rancho Shopping Center from a former downtown Carmel location, specializing in dog grooming and including a wide range of pet accessories and foods.

The west half of the new building, with two stories, will house offices including those of Carmel Rancho Inc. Balconies and interior and exterior staircases are part of the design, as well as an interior patio. Air conditioning has been installed throughout both sections of the unit. Radio Station KRML will have its working plant on the ground floor of the two-story building, and the premises of all new tenants are wired for background music.

Mimi Doud Weds Dr. Roger Detels in Carmel Mission Basilica

Dr. and Mrs. Roger Detels (Mimi Doud), en route to thhe Pebble Beach Club reception following their mariage ceremony at Carmel Mission Basilica.

Carmel Mission Basilica was the setting for the wedding of Mimi Doud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Doud of Carmel, and Dr. Roger Detels of Plandome, New York, last Saturday. Kieley read the 5:30 p.m. service

The Reverend Father James Kieley read the 5:30 p.m. Service before a large group of family friends. Decorating the altar of the historic mission were opium bowls of white gladiolas and chrysanthemums and tall tapers.

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory re-embroidered Pointe de Venise lace gown made with a lace bodice, scallop neckline, short sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a full peau de soie chapel length train. Her hair was covered with a matching mantilla, and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

Pamela Pritchard of Palo Alto, a cousin of the bride, was honor maid, and bridesmaids were Mrs. S. Michael Gallagher of San Francisco and Ann Isenberger of Carmel, also cousins of the bride; Susan White and Karen Swanson, both of Carmel. Their gowns were ivory floor length silk ottoman with moss green velvet sashes made with fitted bodices, elbow length sleeves, and bell skirts. They carried crescent bouquets of Talisman roses and orange carnations.

Best man for his twin brother was Terry Detels of New York, and seating the guests were the benedict's other brothers, Peter and Michael Detels of New York, and Paul Detels of Seattle; Dr. Zoltan Ovary of New York; Shigenobu Yoshida of New York; Dr. Henry Lew of San Francisco; Dr. Beaty Pemberton of Texas; the bride's brother, John Edward Doud of Carmel; and the groom's cousin, Peter Crooker of Monterey.

Following the service a reception was held at The Beach Club in Pebble Beach, where large arrangements of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and gladiolas decorated the lounge and dining room.

The bride's table held several large silver candelabras decorated with yellow and white roses and chrysanthemums. The many tiered cake was on a table decorated with bouvardia, yellow roses and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. Doud greeted her guests in a mink brown street length gown fashioned with a lace bodice and silk skirt with which she wore a matching tulle hat and brown orchids.

Mrs. Martin Detels, mother of the groom, chose a gown of ice blue chiffon with which she wore a matching hat and a corsage of butterfly orchids.

A members of a pioneer California family, Mimi is a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls, attended Dominican College in San Rafael and the University of Arizona, where she was affiliated with Phi Mu Sorority. She was the 1960 La Favorita at the Monterey Merienda. It was on her great grandfather's table that the Constitution for the State of California was written.

Her brother, John Edward Doud, attends the University of California at Davis. She is the niece of Mrs. Morrell Vecki of San Francisco, Dr. Frederick Pritchard of Berkeley and Alfred Pritchard of Palo Alto; and her cousins are Miss Anita Doud and Francis Doud of Monterey; Mrs. Kathleen Doud Watson of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Victor Vecki and James Doud of Carmel.

Dr. Detels' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Detels, came from their home in Plandome, New York, for the wedding.

The new benedict is a graduate of Harvard University and received his Doctor of Medicine degree from New York University. He is now at the University of Washington on a post-doctoral fellowship in the Department of Preventive Medicine. The newlyweds will make their home in an apartment at the Medical Center in Seattle.

When the couple left Pebble Beach for Seattle, the bride was wearing a brown wool suit with a blue blouse and accessories.

IT'S AUTUMN IN CARMEL

The surf and the sunsets are magnificent, the weather is wine-y, and there is that curious little nip in the air which isn't supposed to be there in an even-temperature climate, but which IS there anyway and which says quite decidedly it is Fall. The tourists are gone home, and the town belongs to the visitors and the locals again, and our dogs recognize the other dogs they meet on the beach. It's the time for returning — to learning, and to earning. Time to roll up the sleeves and get down to business. And if your business happens to be a new home, why that just happens to be our business, too. Particularly if you'd like to be in a Pebble Beach address for only $2,500 down. Or if you want a perfect family situation and your riches are children instead of money, we can offer you two almost new homes with lots of bedrooms and family living space for as little as $3,500 down, and in an A-1 school set-up. Come and see us. Your friends have probably told you that we are really interested in your problems at

Upon reaching the maximum permissible number of hours in a six-month period, the employment of a casual employee shall be terminated and the employee may not be reemployed in a casual status until thirty (30) days shall have elapsed. Nothing in this section shall prevent the termination of casual status of an employee and his immediate reemployment as a probationary employee.

Section 240.12

CASUAL EMPLOYEES— GENERAL. Casual employees shall be employed by the City as the Council may direct by resolution, except that in cases of emergency, Department Heads may hire casual employees subject to confirmation by the Council at its next regular meeting. WHAT'S DOING

Did you know that newspaper pages can be sent through the air by radio waves? This happens in San Francisco, for example, when each page of The Wall Street Journal is set in type. Complete pages are electronically "photographed" and transmitted over our microwave and cable system to the Journal's facsimile receivers in Riverside, California. There a negative is printed and removed (as shown at right), a metal plate is made, and the presses print a duplicate of the paper for Southern California. It's another example of how improved communications serve in more and more ways.

The front pages of your phone book contain information to help you get the most from your telephone service. Why not become familiar with them?

If your youngsters at college don't write home as often as you'd like, here's one way to keep in touch. Why not arrange a time for a weekly telephone call? Remember, nothing says "you" like your voice.

Here's an inexpensive and practical item you'll want to know about. It's a separate, personal listing in the telephone directory for various members of your household.
